

"Students with autism need a routine. They find change stressful and tend to panic if they don't know what is going to happen".

Routines and Anxiety.

Providing a visual, well-structured and personalized set of instructions, whether it is for a lesson, learning a new skill or to support behaviour, will always suit someone with autism.

ROUTINE	EMOTIONS	ANXIETY	RESPONSE	SOLUTION
---------	----------	---------	----------	----------

